

Updated chambertrust.org site released

April 7, 2026

ChamberTrust Management International (CTMI) is pleased to announce the release of its updated chambertrust.org hub site.

ChamberTrust Management International (CTMI) is a global trust infrastructure and commercialization organization established in the early 2000s to facilitate secure cross-border commerce for businesses, chambers of commerce, NGOs, and academic institutions. Anchored by its longstanding partnership with the World Chambers Network (WCN), CTMI leverages a verified database of over 12,500 chambers and 40 million businesses across 160+ countries to build tailored economic clusters and institutional trust frameworks.

Its flagship offering, CTMI-eVault at chambertrust.ai, merges decades of intellectual property expertise with digital provenance and distributed ledger technology to safeguard data integrity in the AI era, while its comprehensive service palette extends to business commercialization, supply chain verification, anti-piracy tools, global market access, and distributed ledger receipts. Together, these capabilities empower organizations of all scales to securely navigate international trade, protect critical assets, and scale innovative ventures across borders.

CTMI-eVault will soon offer a 'contract room' version that allows two or more parties to share information such as contract versioning for an investment deal, blueprints for supply-chain diversification and similar business information exchange needs.